BIOGRAPHY:

Since obtaining his Certified Cash Manager (CCM) certification in 1998, Dan has been dedicated to assisting companies with improving their cash management functions. Dan started his treasury career in the corporate treasury department at Arthur Andersen and then moved on to work for Equity Office Properties and AON Corporation. While working at the aforementioned employers, Dan's main responsibilities revolved around the implementation of treasury best practices and treasury workstations.

In 2002 Dan started TreaSolution, Inc. which is a full service treasury consulting and staffing company. Dan's current responsibilities are the daily operation of TreaSolution with occasional cash management and treasury technology consulting. In 2003 Dan converted his Certified Cash Manager certification to the more current Certified Treasury Professional (CTP) certification.

Dan has been called upon to be a professional business speaker for the Financial Management Association, Northern Illinois University, Standard Federal Bank and the Central Ohio, Chicago, Indiana, Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska, Northwest, Portland, Tampa Bay and Wisconsin treasury management associations. Dan's past experience as a business speaker has impressed audiences nationwide and his clients frequently ask him to return for additional speeches and presentations.

It is Dan's goal to stay abreast of current business trends by continuous networking with business professionals. To meet this goal, Dan is an active member of the Treasury Management Association of Chicago and volunteers on the Northern Illinois University Department of Finance Board of Executive Advisors. Dan is also pleased to provide expert business opinion to national publications and has been quoted in the Chicago Tribune, CFO Magazine, Financial Executive Magazine, Financial Week, Treasury and Risk Management Magazine and Business Finance Magazine.
